

ALPS PRICE MEADOWS TO OFFER CLIENTS INVESTOR ANALYTICS - RISK TRANSPARENCY SERVICE

Denver, CO, April 7, 2010 – ALPS Price Meadows (APM), a leading provider of administration services to the alternative asset management industry, today announced that it will offer its clients comprehensive market risk reporting capabilities through the award-winning Investor Analytics – Risk Transparency service. “In these volatile markets, our clients and their end investors are demanding better insight into the market risks they are undertaking. The Investor Analytics – Risk Transparency service has proven to be the most intuitive and understandable risk measurement service in the marketplace.” says Jeremy May, President of ALPS Fund Services. “We are pleased to be able to offer this comprehensive service to our clients.”

Through this new alliance, ALPS’ clients will have access to tools and reports that measure risks across multiple asset classes, strategies and portfolios using state of the art risk analytics, calculations, stress tests and scenario analyses. “Using daily reconciled positions from a firm’s administrator to generate actionable risk statistics gives managers and their end-investors better insight into their investment decisions.” says Damian Handzy, CEO of Investor Analytics. “We are excited to partner with ALPS in bringing these risk tools to their clients.”

Asset managers are increasingly being asked by investors and regulators alike to provide multi-dimensional views of the market risks they take as part of a comprehensive risk monitoring process. Investor Analytics reports can be tailored for internal risk management, for client/investor reporting, and to satisfy regulator requirements or investment guidelines.
